The city council of Henderson this week revoked a contract awarded in August to Labry & Co. for about one mile of pavement on Green street, amounting to $7,000. The contractors failed to start the work on time. The contract was then awarded to the Meacham Contracting Co., whose bid was next lowest. The work is to be done at once. "Concerning this and other contracts the Henderson Journal says: Rodman Meacham, of the Meacham Contracting Company, has returned from Louisville, where he went to purchase forty cars of cement for use in completing contracts on hand. Of this amount twenty cars will be shipped to Hopkinsville to go in the L. & N. R. R. bridge work, and the remainder will be distributed at Carmi, Ill., Howell, Ind., Henderson, Ky., and Paris, Tenn., where they now have work in progress. This order makes a total of one hundred and twenty cars of cement used by the Meacham Company during 1910.

A Modern Godiva.

Miss Bessie Abbott, the famous young America prima donna, has sailed from Paris for New York to appear in Mascagni's new opera "Ysobel," in which she will play the part of Lady Godiva, who rode through Coventry several centuries ago clad in her beautiful locks of golden hair, a smile and a blush.

But Miss Abbott insists that she will not do any disrobing stunt—not so you could notice it. The fact is she will wear a blue velvet cloak while she crosses the court yard of the palace to where the white horse waits, and then, mounting the gallant steed, Lady Godiva's cloak begins to slide from the lovely shoulders which supported it, and as the watchful audience gathers one deep breath, it falls—that is the curtain does.

H. H. S. Champion Kicker.

News comes from the State University that Robert Dabney, a graduate of the Hopkinsville High School 1909, is attracting attention as a football player. He is not a member of the regular team, being a Freshman, but is considered the best drop kicker in the University and is used as a substitute in emergencies that call for expert kicking. He was one of Hopkinsville's champions last year.
